

6th Grade JCL (Junior Classical League) Project

It's time for some creative fun! Each 6th grade student will create a JCL/Latin Graphic Arts Project! It is due March 15.

You may choose the type of project from the attached guidelines. The subject of your project needs to be Classical (Latin or Greek) and can be cultural, historical, or mythological.

REQUIRED:

- 1) The project will count as one test grade for Latin. This grade will not be based on artistic ability but on design/creativity, overall presentation, neatness, accuracy, faithfulness to theme and guidelines, and adherence to deadlines.
NB: Failure to follow JCL Guidelines results in a one letter grade reduction for the project. For example, if the guidelines indicate that a picture must be a certain size and your picture is larger, then your score will be lowered to the next letter grade. (A becomes B, B+ become C+.) This is consistent with JCL rules.

OPTIONAL:

- 2) You may then enter your project to compete in the NCJCL (North Carolina Junior Classical League) convention on Saturday, April 27th at Wake Forest University. In order to compete, however, you will need to accompany your project to the convention. It can't go without you! The Graphic Arts competition, workshops, "Olympika," and most other events take place on Saturday. But the opening ceremony and a few other events take place Friday night. So maybe you could attend both days!

There are several internet sites you might use as you research for your project. CAVE! (Caution): Many Classical internet sites will be blocked on your computers due to artistic renderings of gods and goddesses. Please have your parents preview any site before you view it. You are to follow the enclosed project timeline. Keep the timeline in your notebook. Enjoy!

We rely on parents to drive and be chaperones for the JCL convention. Please consider being a driver!
